Growing in Number.

The Calamity of Johnstown Greater Than Reported.

FEARFUL LOSS OF LIFE.

No One Able to Tell Its Extent at This Time.

IT IS NOW BELIEVED THAT FIFTEEN THOUSAND PERISHED.

At Least Three Thousand Bodies Will Never Be Recovered—Clearing Up the Wreck and Recovering the Bodies of the Victims—Trying to Obtain the Number of Lives Lost—Relief Pouring in From Every Direction.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 5.—While the total loss of life at Johnstown and the surrounding boroughs of Cambria, Morrellville, Kerrsville and Conemaugh will never be known, yet a fair attempt is now being made to ascertain it within a reasonably fair limit. This is being done through a bureau of registration. Twenty-eight agencies, with sixty men, have been established within the flood district, and all survivors have been notified to register themselves and their families at once.

This work was begun at 4 o'clock Monday, and at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning 6,500 persons had registered. There were 20,500 people residing in Johnstown and the boroughs named before the terrible catastrophe. When the work of registration is finished, which may be to-morrow night, then it will be known about how many persons are missing. The work is very carefully and thoroughly done, special care being taken to prevent duplications.

Fifteen Thousand Lives Lost.

Superintendent Morgan, of the Cambria Iron company, who is regarded as an exceptionally level-headed man, has returned from a tour of the entire flooded district. He declares that only about 15,000 persons are now alive where 20,500 lived and had their being before the flood.

Adj. Gen. Hastings maintains that the death list may not exceed 8,000, and of this number he thinks 3,000 bodies will never be recovered. Mr. McConegan, the chief of the bureau of registration, says that he is convinced that the number who perished is fully 10,000 or more.

Departments of Distribution.

Gen. Hastings has instructed his assistant, Maj. A. L. Spangler, of Bellefonte, to organize the following departments of distribution: Beef and meat, clothing, tinware, flour, coffee, sugar and tea. Maj. Spangler has also organized a separate department, including Kerrsville, Woodvale, Cambria City, Morrellville, Conemaugh and other towns, and in each of these he will establish branch depots, and from these assistants will distribute the necessities to the worthy.

This scheme will enable those in charge to give to all who are needy and prevent imposition. The principal depot of distribution is at the Pennsylvania passenger station. A portion of the platform has been wired off, and large tables, filled with all kinds of good, substantial cooked and uncooked food arranged along the whole length of it. Uniformed police are on guard, not only to repress the eager crowds, but also to prevent the incoming of loafers, who are very abundant. Those asking aid are admitted to the wired passage way, and as fast as their wants are attended to, their baskets filled and addresses taken, they are hustled out at the other end, where also are stationed several officers who narrowly scan each outsider, in order that he or she may not duplicate their visit in the same day.

Actual Needs of the People.

Maj. Spangler said: "We have an abundance of everything except boots and shoes, and these should be a supply of them sent to us immediately. The railroads are forwarding us stuff by the train loads as rapidly as they can move them, and on the whole we are doing very well. Each applicant is supplied with a day's rations, either for himself or for his family. Those who do not have families and are hungry are given sandwiches and lunches from the supplies we keep on hand all the time. Money is of no use just now. I may say that many applicants have money and are willing to buy, but there is nothing to buy in the city and we can sell nothing.

Hard at Work.

Local pride has been stirred up, and all are coming to ask for work. Residents where houses have been left them are clearing them out themselves and getting ready to repair them. It begins to look like business again here. Apathy is giving way to anxiety, and anxiety to a feeling of emulation which will bear legitimate fruit in the rebuilding and renewing of this thrifty city.

At the Hospital.

Dr. W. B. Lowman, of Johnstown, is in charge of the medical relief corps. He is assisted by over 300 physicians. Dr. Lowman said: "The first day or two very few injured people were seen. They are coming in now by the score. Sickness is getting alarming, and we see our duties multiply hourly. Nervous prostration, pneumonia and a train of fevers will be and are the most frequent and pneumonia is sure to be very prevalent, because of exposure in the water and dampness. There are over 2,000 sick in the general hospitals here and in the boroughs already, and there will be three times as many. We must arrange to disinfect the city immediately. Two carloads of disinfectants have already been received from Pittsburgh, but a train load will be required.

Number Still Increasing.

The list of the recovered dead kept up its appalling growth yesterday, but the list of the recognized is not so large as the previous day owing to the fact that many of the bodies recovered were either burnt beyond recognition or decomposition has set in. The ascertained list of 2,300 bodies Monday was augmented by 138 more in Johnstown, Cambria and Kerrsville, a large number at Woodvale, and, it is said, thirty-two at Nineval, and vicinity. The undertakers are becoming fagged out, many having worked day and night for seventy-two hours.

Clearing the Streets.

Capt. W. R. Jones and Evan Jones held a consultation yesterday and arranged the scheme for clearing the streets.

"How are you going to do it?" asked the citizens' committee.

"Men and fire will do it," sententiously replied Evan Jones. "We have about 2,000 in all. We'll just gather up and cast all this truck out on the flats there, and, making a nice big pile of it, set fire to it; that's all. The wind will scatter the ashes and there won't be anything to remind you of your trouble."

In an hour a hundred tents were up, and the 200 men were tearing down the mountains of lumber and logs, and piling them ready for the flames. Great billows of flames have been licking the lowering clouds all day and last night. The streets are passable to all parts of the city, although the debris is by no means removed, nor will it be for several days; but it will go. There will be clear ground next Monday between the rivers, upon which Johnstown people may again build and again grow rich and great. Some philosophical residents have even come to regard the flood in the light of a solid advantage, and if it had not swept so many lives from the earth they would think it was absolutely so. Johnstown is sure to rise again.

The action of the Cambria Iron company has been infectious. Those that have money will rebuild of themselves, and others who have not, but have good property, will borrow the means and plunge in again with as much activity as those who have. There are no mortgages on any real estate to speak of. The city owes nothing, in fact is in great financial shape. Those who have money can lend it here to private citizens at good interest, or invest in bonds issued to pay for new bridges, new buildings, new streets and whatever else now needed. In a year or two Johnstown will be more than herself again. The population lost will be replaced by people who will be wanted in the Cambria iron works and in new factories and industries that will be started.

This is the feeling of all prominent Johnstown business men, and it is bound to count. Secretary Stakehouse, of the Cambria Iron company, is superintending the work of the 900 men who are clearing away the debris in and about the company's works. When asked what he thought of the destruction at present, he said: "Our loss will not be quite as much as the lower works as we at first supposed, probably less than half a million dollars. Our upper works are completely demolished and for that reason we have given all our efforts to placing our lower works in operation at the earliest possible moment. I think we will be in good running order in less than thirty days. We are sparing no expense in prosecuting the work and are paying very little attention to the loss of our property. Our machinery has suffered very little from the flood."

Clearing Away the Wreck.

Arthur Kirk, of Pittsburgh, has begun preparing to clear away the raft of wreck above the bridge. "I can give no idea," he said, "of the length of time it will take to clear it out, but it will be a work of weeks. I have had some experience in blasting wrecks, but this is a job of unprecedented magnitude. I cannot tell yet to what extent the current of the river, as we bring it back to its channel, will assist the dynamite. The solid raft is about 400 feet wide by 1,200 long, and, since the burning down to the water, it is about twenty feet thick. Say that it will average fifteen feet of tree trunks, heavy timbers, locomotives, railroad iron, machinery and wire from the works, all tangled and wedged together as only a flood can do it. The work of a flood is the work of a mania, without plan or intelligence. It has no beginning and no end. There is no keystone to it. Every great stick of timber, every mass of iron is a separate key.

"With the dimensions I have named, the solid raft contains about 7,200,000 cubic feet to be blasted and wrenched away. Our plan is to begin with the raft in the first archway of the stone bridge, removing the light wreckage and ashes, and taking out such bodies and fragments of bodies as may be brought to view. Then we will bore holes in the large trees and timbers at that spot, load them with dynamite and blow them to pieces. When we have broken up a small space in that archway we will turn the water into it by means of a bracket dam across the new channel.

"We will work up and across stream and destroy the raft piecemeal, taking out the remains as fast as we uncover them. The bodies will not be injured by the dynamite. It is the nature of that explosive that, though very powerful, its effect is limited to the matter immediately surrounding the charge, differing from black powder, which tears up a wider area though much less completely. The current may wash some bodies away as sections of the raft break up, but no others that are in there will be lost. I have 200 men and the work will be pushed as fast as possible.

"The sanitary question is becoming a serious one to the cities down stream as well as here. The water that washes among these decaying bodies goes on down to the influent pipes through which the people of Pittsburgh and Allegheny get their drinking water. It is horrible to think of."

"Not a house was wrecked nor a life lost in the Conemaugh valley until the dam burst and the lake rolled down upon us. The flood was receding," said Abraham Gilmore to-day. His brother, W. J. Gilmore, was also present. Behind them, waiting to be coffined, lay W. J. Gilmore's family. The body of his wife, with her head buried off, the trunk of his oldest boy, the body of his daughter, the feet of his two youngest children and part of the legs of his niece, the daughter of Samuel Fails, who had been visiting at his house, and the body of his mother-in-law, Mrs. David Prosser.

"The flood from Stony creek had come and gone. The water was about three feet higher than it was two years ago. We had five feet of water in the house, and had noted that it had gone down an inch. We were joking back and forth with our neighbors. We had no warning. We were looking up stream when Conemaugh lake came down. We saw the wall of water come pouring over the iron bridge. In a moment it struck the town, hurling the town of Woodvale before it; the houses went in a twinkling."

W. H. Pickrelle, operator at Mineral Point tower, one and a quarter miles west of Mineral Point station, and two miles south of this side of South Fork, was at his post when the flood came.

The tower is situated at quite a distance above the head of the stream. His family live at Mineral Point, and he had been very anxious about the condition of the South Fork dam. About 10 a. m. May 31, he sent a special message to his family to warn them not to remain in the house. He also sent several messages in the forenoon to Dougherty, the operator at South Fork, asking about the condition of the dam. The replies were to the effect that their watchman at the dam said there was great danger, but that the operator's opinion was that there was not much danger. About 1 p. m. Pickrelle received a message from South Fork operator that the dam was in bad condition. At 1:52 p. m. he received this message from South Fork: "The water is running over the breast of lake dam in center, and the west side is becoming dangerous."

"DOUGHERTY"

The last message received from South Fork, and in fact the last message received at Mineral Point from any one up to the present time was received at 2:25 p. m.:

"The dam is getting worse and may possibly go."

Mr. Wilson is superintendent of the Argyle Coal company. Pickrelle sent this message to East Conemaugh as soon as he received it, together with instructions to have it circulated among the people there at once. The operator at East Conemaugh wired back at 2:30 p. m.:

"O. K. J. O."

These being the letters used to denote the name of the East Conemaugh operator, Mr. Montgomery.

The Damage at Woodvale.

The resident portion of Woodvale borough is completely wiped out. The property loss is estimated at $3,500,000. On the hills above the wrecked village is presented the worst spectacle of the hour. Here are clustered the several thousand inhabitants who escaped, and unless aid is given them soon they must perish of want. Starvation stares them in the face. They are so far above Johnstown that the relief parties have not yet reached them, and only a few provisions have been brought up to them by the other survivors in Johnstown. Several have lost their mind, and it is feared that the horrors of death by starvation or the worst horrors of madness, must soon overtake them unless at once relieved. A large number of lives were lost here.

Cautious Proclamation.

The state board of health of Pennsylvania has satisfied itself by inspection that the waters of Conemaugh, Allegheny and the Ohio rivers must become contaminated as a result of the recent disastrous flood at Johnstown. It therefore earnestly urges all persons who are obliged to depend upon these streams for their water supply to use no water for household purposes which has not been previously boiled. By order of the board. BENJAMIN LEA, Secretary.

Communication Opened.

BLAIRVILLE, Pa., June 5.—Communication with the outside world was re-established to-day. The 300 passengers on the Pennsylvania railway, who have been stranded at Altoona, will be transported in wagons to Nineval, forty-two miles distant.

LOSS GROWING HEAVIER.

Three Trains Destroyed Instead of Two. Other Losses.

PITTSBURG, June 5.—It is now a settled fact that three trains were caught by the flood at Johnstown. The day express, which left Pittsburgh at 8 o'clock on Friday morning, appears to have been the least affected, though the reports concerning the fate of its passengers are very unsatisfactory in details. The limited and a local passenger train are shrouded in a mist that can only be lifted when perfect communication has been established. Train Dispatcher Culp stated that the trains in question are believed to be safe at Altoona although the officials have no positive information in regard to them. Train 2 was known to have reached Wilmore, and as 20 and 14 were at Sohman, he thinks there is no reason to doubt that they reached twenty-five miles farther east.

The officials still contend that few of the passengers on the day express were lost. They say that four more have been found in a cottage on the hillside above the town, but that they do not know their names.

There are quite a number who have not yet turned up, but the railroad men still have hopes that they will be found safe. On the other hand, passengers who were saved, figure out that twenty to forty persons were drowned from the day express alone.

Every train that arrives from Pittsburgh brings hundreds of people, who come for no other purpose than to see the sights, and thousands more would come if they could get through the gates at the Union depot, and thousands of others along the road would go if the conductors would let them on the trains. Now too many come as it is, but a few days more will put the town in condition to receive them.

Relief Coming In.

The local relief committee yesterday had its hands full of work, and its coffers rapidly filling with contributions, the heavy drain on which, however, removed all possibility of their breakage causing a disastrous flood of money. The cash torrent, however, swept away hunger and cold from the destitute, who poured into Pittsburgh on every train from Johnstown last night and during the day, and the big, open hearts of the Pittsburgh public provided them with temporary homes. Every public institution was called into requisition, and many private homes have opened hospitable doors to the homeless.

The workmen at Johnstown are being cared for, as clearing the wreck is an absolute necessity, as much for a sanitary precaution as a humane one.

The committee has received from Capt. W. R. Jones, manager of the Edgar Thomson steel works, one of his Napoleonic telegrams as follows: "Send by special train without delay a good steward and twenty cooks, with cooking utensils. My principal difficulty is to feed our men. We are making things hum. Support me promptly and fill my wants."

This curt but expressive intimation was answered by an immediate raid on the hotels and restaurants, and in a half hour the culinary chiefs were captured and shipped on a special train.

There were 1,000 workmen sent out on a special train armed with picks, shovels, etc., and they created a decided sensation as they marched down Fifth avenue. The tools and equipments on the train were valued at $50,000.

The Pittsburgh ladies have taken the work of relief in hand, and it may be assured that it will be done as efficiently as tenderly. An organization has been effected and preparations made on a scale commensurate with the occasion. A force of men were mustered in in reliance to meet every incoming train from the east with carriages, and the sufferers are taken at once to the Second Presbyterian church, where they are fed, and those who need it clothed. Their bodily wants relieved, they are taken from this place and placed in the various temporary homes which afford accommodation.

A Relief Meeting in Washington.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The meeting for the relief of the Johnstown sufferers yesterday afternoon brought together many prominent public officials, army and navy officers and citizens, and resulted in generous contributions and donations of money, provisions and clothing. President Harrison presided, and made a brief but eloquent and impressive speech that touched the sensibilities of all who heard him, and elicited from his audience frequent applause. His arrival in the hall was the occasion for loud applause. District Commissioner Douglas called the meeting to order, and introducing the president to the audience, invited him to preside over their deliberations.

President Harrison, in taking the chair, spoke at some length of the great disaster and closed his remarks with the following suggestions:

"I suggest therefore that a committee be constituted having in charge the speedy collection of articles of food. The occasion is such that the bells might well be rung through your streets to call the attention of the thoughtless to this great exigency, in order that a train load of provisions may be dispatched to-night or in the early morning to this suffering people."

"I suggest, secondly, as many of these people have had the entire furnishings of their homes swept away, and have now only temporary shelter, that a committee be appointed to collect such articles of clothing, and especially bed clothing, as can be spared. Now that the summer is on, it can hardly be that a house in Washington cannot spare a blanket or a coverlet."

"And third, I suggest that from the substantial business men and bankers there be appointed a committee who shall collect money, for after the first exigency is past there will be found in those communities many, who have lost their all; who will need aid in the reconstruction of their demolished homes and in furnishing them so that they may be again inhabited."

"Need I say in conclusion that as a temporary citizen of Washington, it would give me great satisfaction if the National capital should so generously respond to this call of our distressed fellow-citizens, as to be conspicuous among the cities of our land. I feel that as I am now calling for contributions I should say that on Saturday, when first apprised of the disaster at Johnstown I telegraphed a subscription to the mayor of that city. I do not like to speak of anything so personal as this, but I felt it due to myself and to you that I should say so much as this."

As the president concluded his address a number of vice presidents, secretaries and the treasurer of the meeting were selected, and working committees were appointed. It was an enthusiastic meeting, and the responses to the president's call for immediate subscriptions were prompt and liberal. The district bar gave $4,537; Attorney General Miller, $100; J. W. Thompson, $500.

Contributions for Johnstown.

When Maysville was visited by the flood a few years ago she received aid in her hour of trouble.

The suffering here at that time was insignificant compared with the devastation and misery now existing in the Cone-maugh Valley.

Maysville should add her mite to the relief fund now being collected throughout the country for the sufferers at Johnstown. As the city authorities have taken no action, no contributions left at the BULLETIN office will be promptly forwarded to the proper parties.

LEXINGTON raised $268 in ten minutes for the Johnstown flood-sufferers. Maysville should add her mite.

FIRST AUDITOR CHENOWETH's successor has been named. He's a Delaware Republican—George P. Fisher, aged seventy-two years. Mr. Chenoweth has the satisfaction of retiring with a most enviable record for prompt and faithful discharge of his official duties.

THERE are 156 applicants for one Consular place in South America. The Republican party would be greatly weakened at the polls if the State Department could send out of the country all the men who want to go. But would the community suffer at all?—New York World.

Too MANY people here in Maysville turn their attention to merchandizing. If more of them would engage in manufacturing enterprises, they would no doubt find it more profitable, and would at the same time be doing something to build up and advance the interests of their city.

THE Winchester Sun, a Republican paper, is very much disgruntled over the refusal of Colonel Barret to accept the nomination for Treasurer. It says: "Again the State convention has made a nasty blunder by nominating a candidate who would not accept. We used to laugh at the Democrats for blundering around blindly, but the tables have been sadly turned, and the Republican party has become ridiculous for stupid blundering."

Brother Bosley is evidently very much disgusted at the situation, and he no doubt expresses the sentiment of many of his brother Republicans. It looks like Barret has dumped himself, as well as his party, "in the soup."

THE Democrats of Mason County should bear in mind that precinct meetings will be held next Saturday at 2 p. m. to select delegates to the county convention the following Monday, when a candidate for Representative will be named. Dr. John M. Frazer is the only one openly seeking the nomination, but some individual who knows he would stand no show against the doctor in an out-and-out fight may be quietly at work to pack the meetings and carry off the honor. So far as we hear, nothing of the kind will be attempted, but it could be done. Democrats should turn out more freely at these precinct meetings. There is where the candidate is most frequently named, and the people should attend and express their choice.

Will Pestilence Follow?

In the wake of the terrible destruction of life and property at Johnstown, Penn., and as its sequel, it is now feared that pestilence will follow.

Great numbers of human bodies and of animals lie in the bottom of the river and along its banks, and are secreted in the masses of debris that are piled up in many places.

It will be impossible to locate and remove all these before decomposition sets in. In fact, many of those already found are swollen by the gases generated by decomposition.

The waters that wash these decaying masses go, in part, to supply thousands in the cities along these water-sources with drinking water.

It will be next to impossible to purify it, especially that used by the poorer consumers, and every swallow may contain the germs of disease that will cause horrible death.

The matter has been brought to the attention of the health authorities of the threatened communities and to that of the National Board of Health at Washington. Steps will be promptly taken to ward off the threatened calamity and prevent a pestilential outbreak if possible.

Already the water of Pittsburgh has become black and putrid, and the citizens are awaiting the outcome in fear and trembling.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The reservoirs here are filled with a supply of pure clean water sufficient to last a week or so yet, if the citizens will only be sparing in the use of it. Street sprinkling and any unnecessary use of the water should be abandoned for the present.

Tobacco.

Furnished by Glover & Barrett, proprietors Louisville Tobacco Warehouse.

Sales on market for the week just closed amount to 1,375 hhds. with receipts for the same period of 2,215 hhds. Sales on market since January 1st, amount to 52,829 hhds. Sales of the crop of 1888, on our market up to this date amount to 37,275 hhds.

Since our report of a week ago the whole State has been favored with copious rains and in many localities a considerable percent of the crop is on the hill. The early part of this week developed a weakening in prices on the very common grades of berry, but the market has rallied in the last few days from this decline, and we do not find it necessary to make any change in our quotations of a week ago except to raise the rate for the best on select tobacco, one hoghead of the 1888 crop having sold for $22 per 100 this week, which is the highest price of the year.

The following quotations fairly represent our market for berry tobacco:

Colony trash	5 00@8 50
Common lugs, not colony	5 00@7 00

MUSIC AND RECITATIONS.

The Junior Class of Hayswood Entertain a Large Crowd at the First Presbyterian Church.

The entertainment given last evening by the junior class of Hayswood Female Seminary attracted a large crowd to the First Presbyterian Church. The stage arranged in front of the pulpit for the occasion was handsomely decorated with lovely flowers and plants.

The class were kindly assisted by the members of Musical Club chorus, the programme consisting of essays, recitations and readings and piano solos, duets and quartettes. The pupils were complimented very highly for the excellent manner in which they acquitted themselves. The essays showed careful preparation and much thought and study, the readings and recitations were well given, while the piano selections by the pupils were rendered in a manner very creditable to the young misses. At the close of each number the ushers, Messrs. H. C. McDougle, Robert L. Hoeflich, J. C. Rains and James Barbour, Jr., were kept busy carrying forward the many lovely bouquets sent in by the friends and relatives of the pupils.

SAM JONES recently preached a sermon at Danville, Va., to 3,000 people, during which he called on all who had not told a lie this year to stand up, and only four or five responded. He called on those who didn't love whisky to stand up, and less than twenty-five arose.

THE Stanford Journal says: "A brakeman named Edwards painted a negro girl white and took her to church where the white people worship at Rowland, a few nights ago, and made the good people of that place very indignant. He claims to have done it for a joke, but the rest of the audience are not inclined to relish it as such."

ANOTHER Kentucky editor is in trouble. Brother W. P. Walton, of the Stanford Interior Journal, has been indicted by the Laurel County grand jury at the instance of Judge Boyd for criminal libel, his offense being the publication of a letter charging that the Judge had suppressed indictments against Republicans for election frauds, and let indictments against Democrats stand. Do Kentucky officials want to muzzle the editors?

W. M. LACHIAN came over from Scotland seven years ago and has been engaged as herdsman for Colonel J. C. Hamilton, of Bath County. A few days since he telegraphed "the girl he left behind" to meet him in New York. She sailed on one of the fast steamers and in due time arrived at the metropolis of America, where the long-separated couple were soon made man and wife. Lachian and his bonnie bride have returned to his home in Bath.

Three of the Unfortunates.

The wreckage from the Johnstown flood passed here this morning. The river was full of drift for several hours.

The mail agent on the C and O. brought news from Springfield that three bodies were caught there in the river at an early hour this morning, evidently the remains of unfortunates who were carried away by the awful disaster a few days since. The bodies of several sheep and horses passed here in the drift.

Art Reception.

Miss Agnes E. Foster and her art class at Hayswood Seminary invite an inspection of their work, during the school year, to-night. For this purpose the grounds of the Seminary are thrown open to the public during this afternoon and evening, and visitors are at liberty to come and go as they please. In the evening, Haucke's Reed and Brass Band have kindly consented to aid the ladies by giving a charming open air concert on the grounds, while the visitors are present. All are cordially invited.

Library Entertainment.

Indications point to "standing room only" at the opera house next Friday night when the entertainment for the benefit of the public library will be given. Seats can be reserved without extra charge by presenting tickets at G. W. Blatterman's book store.

The programme consists of instrumental selections by Haucke's Reed and Brass Band, vocal solos by Mrs. Stanley Lee, violin and piano duet by Miss Wilkins and Mr. Charles Rosenau, piano solo by Miss Berry, vocal quartette by Misses Wilkins, Charles and Hays, and Mr. Frank Ellis, recitations by Miss Knox, and an address by Rev. I. A. Thayer. If you haven't secured a ticket, buy one at once and help the cause along.

Excursion to Ashland.

Maysville Commandery No. 10. Knights Templar, have arranged with the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad to run a special train from Maysville to Ashland on Monday, June 24th, to attend the celebration there for the benefit of the Masonic Widows' and Orphans' Home. The train will leave here at about 7 a. m., arriving at Ashland at 9:30. Returning will leave Ashland at 5 p. m., arriving here at about 7:30 p. m. The Commandery cordially invites its many friends, Masons and others, to join them in this excursion for the benefit of the Home.

To make the excursion as large as possible the committee have placed the fare for the round trip at the low price of $1.50, and hope that parties who may desire to make the trip will call on some member of the committee at an early date and secure tickets. Tickets can only be secured from the committee, who will gladly give any information in regard to the trip. The committee consists of Messrs. R. L. Browning, E. A. Robinson, G. W. Rogers, James C. Owens and W. Larue Thomas.

Thenineteen creameries in New Hampshire produced in 1888 about 1,250,000 pounds of butter.

More than 400,000 orange trees have been planted in San Bernardino and Los Angeles Counties, Cal., this season.

At a public sale of Jersey cattle by the Breeders' Association, at Nashville, fifty-five animals aggregated $3,965, an average of $72.

Not less than 500,000 young peach trees have been planted this season in the New Jersey counties of Warren, Hunterdon and Somerset.

Noah Armstrong, owner of Spokane, is authority for the statement that he has refused $25,000 for Proctor Knott's conqueror. He says $40,000 will get the horse, and nothing less.

A prominent tobacco man estimates that the scarcity of tobacco plants will reduce the crop at least 60 per cent. Much of the land intended for tobacco will be put in hemp and corn.—Winchester Sun.

The crop report for May from Georgia, reports a decrease of 3 per cent. in the land devoted to cotton and a corresponding increase of corn area. An increase of area sown for clover and grass is noticeable. A gratifying feature is the flattering prospect for the fruit crop.

There is a little stir here in tobacco circles. Saturday afternoon Captain W. Simms sold 150,000 pounds of his last year's crop to Messrs. Stephens & Siple, Ripley, O., at 8 to 10. This was considered one of the finest and largest crops in the county.—Bourbon News.

The Cronin Inquest.

Some Startling Evidence Before the Coroner's Jury.

A CONFESSION OF WOODRUFF.

Captain Schaack Suspended from Duty by Chief Hubbard—An Important Clue Discovered by the Police—Several Arrests to Follow Shortly.

CHICAGO, June 5.—Startling evidence was given yesterday before the coroner's jury in the Cronin case, by Capt. Schaack. It was late when the "burgomaster" was called. He testified that on the day that the grand jury took up the case the prisoner Woodruff, alias King, sent for him and confessed that he drove the wagon with the trunk that contained Cronin's body from the Evanston avenue cottage to the catch basin.

He opened the confession by saying that he was in a saloon on Division street near Franklin one day with two men named King and Fairburn, when a strange man entered and took King aside. He produced a big roll of money and gave some to King and to Fairburn. When he had gone Wood asked King who it was and he replied: "That is the great lawyer, Alex. Sullivan." Woodruff went on to say that he was hired by Detective Coughlin for the sum of $25 to go to the cottage and get the trunk. The two men before referred to accompanied him. They first drove through Lincoln park, where the trunk was taken out and again returned to the buggy. Then they drove to the catch basin. After the body had been placed therein and the trunk dropped by the wayside, they drove to a barn where they washed and fixed up.

Coughlin, he went on to say, told him several days beforehand that he had a job for him. On the afternoon of May 4 he came to him and said: "Now's the night. It has got to be done. If you can't get out before 8 o'clock it will be no use." At 9 o'clock he got the wagon.

After Schaack had concluded "Major" Sampson, a man well known in the police courts and the Bridewell, testified that Coughlin tried to hire him some time ago to slug Cronin and promised to pay liberally for the job.

A man named Billy Lyon corroborated this, and an adjournment was taken.

The evidence taken earlier in the day was that of the Lake View police officers that saw the mysterious vehicle on the fatal night, and of the doctors that made the post mortem examination.

Late last night Chief of Police Hubbard issued an order peremptorily removing Capt. Schaack from the command of the Chicago avenue district, and also suspending him from duty. This action was based upon his unsatisfactory evidence in the afternoon, and upon the opinion that he had bungled the case from the start. He admitted to the jury that he had not asked Woodruff to describe Alex. Sullivan and in general demonstrated that he had tried to shield Coughlin to the hindrance of the investigation.

ASKING A PARDON.

The Bank Wreckers Trying to Obtain Their Liberty.

CINCINNATI, June 5.—Mrs. E. L. Harper is sending through the mails a strong appeal for her husband and blank petitions for pardon addressed to the president of the United States, to which she is soliciting signatures. The petition concludes:

"We believe that he has already been punished sufficiently to satisfy the demands of criminal law, and that if Mr. Harper can be released before his health, physical and mental, shall suffer further injury from confinement, he would be able to save a large amount of property remaining unsatisfied, make such settlement with his creditors and the creditors of the said bank as that they would be largely benefited, and that he would be able to again start and establish such branches of business as would be of great benefit to the country and secure employment of labor and capital."

Ex-United States District Attorney W. B. Burnett is circulating a petition asking that the indictment against Mr. William Means, late president of the Metropolitan bank, be nolleed, and it is receiving a large number of signatures, including those of the leading bankers and brokers of the city.

Mother and Son Murdered.

TRENTON, Mich., June 6.—Lawrence Murray, a bachelor, aged 40 years, and his mother, aged 80, residing on an unfrequented road in Argonne township, Green county, were murdered several days ago. Both had been shot in the back of the head. Their near neighbors failed to see them as usual, and upon investigation the bodies of the mother and son were found in the cellar where they had been thrown by the murderers.

Burglar Shot by a Young Lady.

LEXINGTON, Ky., June 5.—A negro burglar entered the residence of Perry Crosthwait last night, and was discovered by his daughter, Miss Lulu, who opened fire on him with a revolver. The thief fled, but it is believed that he is wounded, as several men saw him limping down the street. Miss Crosthwait wait is a beautiful young woman, well known in society throughout the state. Her father is a prominent real estate man.

A SO-CALLED "AFFINITY."

Liability to Make Trouble Among the Christian Scientists.

NEW YORK, June 5.—It is more than likely that the sect of Christian Scientists, which number over 100,000 persons in the United States, will be rent in two by Mrs. Mary H. Plunkett, who has put away her husband, John J. Plunkett, by mutual agreement, and married herself to A. Bentley Worthington, a wealthy Californian.

For a number of years back Mr. and Mrs. Plunkett have stood at the head of the Christian Scientists, and were founders of the New York branch of the sect. They also owned and published jointly "The International Magazine of Christian Science." Both were looked up to as ideals of all that was good and pure in this wicked world, from a Christian science point of view.

A little while ago a Californian named Worthington joined the school. He had money and lots of faith and became a devoted student with Mrs. Plunkett as his teacher. Mr. and Mrs. Plunkett agreed that they were not affiliates, and that Worthington was Mrs. Plunkett's real affinity. As Christian scientists don't believe in lawyers, they divorced themselves by signing a contract.

A few nights ago the friends of Mrs. Plunkett and Mr. Worthington were summoned to the Temple. The lady and gentleman announced themselves as affiliates, and therefore man and wife, and are now living together as such. There is a big row among the sect over this strange performance.
